

Eddie MacDonald is originally from Nova Scotia, joined the RCMP in 1981, he has been with the RCMP for 34.5 years. He has held many positions within the RCMP but undoubtedly he has enjoyed working as an advocate and Labour Representative for many years for the membership of the RCMP, while being a regular member.

Prior to becoming a police officer, he was involved in Sales and Marketing. He rose quickly to the highest position within this company as the top producing salesman. He has served in many capacities in his role as an official labour representative, chairing the Internal Affairs Committee, being on the National Policy Health and Safety Committee for several years, asked to attend high profile meetings and symposium on Labour relation models in 2010, and one to stand up for the right thing to be done all of the time for the members he was elected to represent.

Eddie is a passionate, honest, hardworking and caring member of the RCMP. He has continually represented members in many various capacities. He has resolved over 50 disputes by way of Alternate Dispute Resolution for members dealing with abuses by Managers within the RCMP, helping numerous members who have been disadvantaged within the promotion process obtaining redress for all ranks within the NCO ranks, as well as compensation. He has been the only Labour representative that has been successful in holding the Commissioner of the RCMP accountable through the Public Safety Minister's office in a finding of harassment against him. He has been successful in assisting a member in a grievance process against two (2) Commissioners on two abuses of authority and acting outside of any legal authority, enabling this member who was treated illegally, to obtain promotion(s) and back dating by approximately 5 years in compensation.

Eddie has served on various committees and boards outside the RCMP. He was on a 15 person board of a large organization dealing with human resources and stewardship of millions of dollars. He is an avid hockey player, hiker, and golfer and involved in other various exercises to stay in shape. He resides in the Fraser Valley of British Columbia.